

RISE Education program

About RISE Education

The RISE Education program gives primary-age students with a parent in prison access to a vital support system that encourages their learning and development.

Tailored one-on-one support in the classroom on a weekly basis ensures students don't just survive a really difficult time but thrive. Each student is matched with a mentor who supports them academically, socially and culturally.

As part of RISE, SHINE also offers externally evaluated and accredited teacher training seminars. These seminars help teachers and schools better support children with an incarcerated parent.

About SHINE for Kids

SHINE for Kids has 40 years' experience delivering programs and services to children and young people affected by the criminal justice system.

Children with a parent in prison are the invisible victims of crime. They experience significant psychological and emotional trauma, isolation, bullying, poverty, homelessness and fragmentation of care, education and family support.

Nationally, SHINE delivers programs in 32 correctional centres and provides community programs in NSW, ACT, QLD, VIC and WA. SHINE is the leading organisation and the only national charity supporting children with a parent in prison.
